Transit Theogony

Lines

- Sovereignty line to Athena · Apollo · Artemis · Hermes + 8 more
- Promethean line to Prometheus · Atlas · Epimetheus
- Sea line to Nereids · Perses
- Ocean line to Nereids · Charites
- Sun line to Helios · Eos · Selene
- Hecate line to Hecate
- Night line to Aether · Hemera · Charon · Moros · Nemesis · Hypnos
- Memory line to Muses
- Justice line to Horae
- Hera line to Ares · Hebe · Hephaestus
- Harvest line to Persephone
- Rhea line to Zeus · Hera · Demeter · Hestia · Hades · Poseidon
- Consort line to Athena · Apollo · Artemis · Hermes · Dionysus
- Abyss line to Typhon · Echidna
- Erebus line to Aether · Hemera · Charon
- Foam line to Aphrodite
- Forge line to Elder Cyclopes · Hecatoncheires

Zones

- 0 Origin
- 1 Primordials
- 2 Primordial children
- 3 Titans and contemporaries
- 4 Olympians and younger Titans
- 5 Olympian children and contemporaries

Reading the map

- Station: a god, Titan or monster
- Interchange: where lines begin or meet

Follow a line to trace a family. Each stop is the child of the one before it.

Two lines arriving together are two parents. Ares and Hebe sit where the Zeus and Hera lines meet: they are children of both.

A short step along a zone joins partners. The Rhea line steps across to Cronus, then runs beside the Sovereignty line to their children.

Parentage follows Hesiod's Theogony.